41st Annual AIFST Convention

Our Food, Our Future

Food science and technology continues to influence our food choices and impact on the availability of the food we eat. Can technology continue to assist the growth of our industry in tomorrow's domestic and global marketplace? What opportunities exist for new technologies to shape tomorrow's marketplace? What training and assistance is there to ensure that today's innovations in food science and technology carry through to tomorrow's industry?

Come to the Convention where these issues will be explored, celebrate the achievements of our industry and provide opportunities for tomorrow's leaders to shine.
